

Dear ICCA Members and friends:

Congratulations to the authors of six papers accepted to the ICCA panel at the 108th annual AEJMC conference in San Francisco, USA from August 7 to 10, 2025! This year we received many high-quality papers. The acceptance rate is 37.5% after a rigorous blind-review process. The accepted papers are as follows:

1. Extending the Cognitive Mediation Model to Examine Public Knowledge of Stroke and Influencing Factors (Best Faculty Paper)

Zining Wang, Peking University
Shaohai Jiang, National University of Singapore
Rong Gao, Peking University
Jing Xu, Peking University

2. The Effects of Personality Traits on Individuals' Political Communication Patterns: Examining the 2024 Taiwan Presidential Election through the O-S-R-O-R Model

Chen-Yi, Lee, Chinese Culture University
Shu-Chu Sarrina Li, National Yang Ming Chiao Tung University

3. Social Media Cross-Cutting Exposure and Online Political Engagement: Examining a Moderated Mediation Model of Information Verification and Civic Motivations (Best Student Paper)

Dandan Liu, Hong Kong Baptist University
Kaiming Su, Hong Kong Baptist University

4. How Social Network Sites Influence Individual Exercise Behavior: The Mediating Role of Perceived Descriptive Norms and the Moderating Role of Perceived Similarity

Shuo Gao, China University of Political Science and Law
Shuangqing Liu, China University of Political Science and Law

5. The Power of Media in Authoritarian Regimes: The Impact of International News on Political Elites in China (1957-1972)

Xiao Xiao, Nanjing University
Cheng-Jun Wang, Nanjing University

6. We might all be the same—chasing traffic”: Exploring Chinese journalism visual practitioners' understanding to 'Objectivity' and challenges in practice

Zhiting Zhang, University of Missouri
Ziyi Wei, University of Missouri

The authors of each best paper award will receive USD$200 and an e-certificate, in addition to one-year ICCA membership. Congrats again! All the papers will be presented at the ICCA-AEJMC panel.

Dr. Trisha T. C. Lin

ICCA Vice President, Research & Conference Chair

Distinguished Professor, College of Communication & International College of Innovation, National Chengchi University; Director, Master Program in Global Communication & Innovative Technology

Dr. Yuan Wang

ICCA-AEJMC Research & Conference Co-Chair

Associate Professor and Program Leader, Academy for Educational Development and Innovation, The Education University of Hong Kong